

LEADING IN APPALACHIA: COMMUNICATING IN A COMPLEX WORLD

Join current and future leaders of Appalachian Ohio for six dynamic trainings focused on Communicating in a Complex World. In this series, we'll explore the many facets of communication leaders use to succeed. All sessions include practical information and skills you'll put to use immediately, PLUS opportunities to network and collaborate with the others from the region.

LEADING WITH EMOTIONAL INTELLIGENCE

Emotional intelligence (EI) is self-awareness, self-management, social awareness, and relationship management. Participants will learn about different models of EI and will assess their own EI.

EFFECTIVE COMMUNICATION

Participants will learn to recognize different communication styles and ways to adapt their own style to communicate more effectively with others.

COLLABORATION

Participants will learn skills for effective teamwork and collaboration, including planning better meetings and managing conflict in collaboration.

DATA VISUALIZATION

Participants will learn to tell their story using data- including selecting the correct data, analyzing it, and presenting it in a way that gets their message across.

ADVOCACY IN APPALACHIA

Participants will learn what types of advocacy are appropriate for their position and organization and what resources are available to support advocacy.

STRATEGIC PLANNING

Participants will be introduced to use of the venture model canvas tool to start with an idea and end with a plan.

Participants are expected to commit to all six sessions
